C69 2005y OCLC Number: (OCoLC)681548400 Subject: Identity theft -- United States -- Prevention. Excerpt: . . . 11 Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act requires of regulated financial institu-tions. ird, Th Congress should establish uniform requirements for data brokers, consumer-reporting agencies, and financial institutions to notify consumers. And, again, I think, in all of your bills, there are notification procedures, and that has to be a balance. Congress should include in such a notice the date of the breach, specific in-formation that was acquired, the actions being taken by the consumer-reporting agencies, financial institution, or data broker, an explanation of how a consumer may obtain a copy of their con-sumer report free of charge, and how they may place fraud alert on their consumer reports to discourage unauthorized use, and a toll-free number where consumers can obtain additional informa-tion about the security breach and their options to protect their consumer file. Finally, Congress must place greater responsibility on retail mer-chants to protect their customer payment account information. By accomplishing these initial goals, Congress will provide con-sumers with the protections they deserve, and provide the clarity and uniformity that industry needs in order to service their cus-tomers. In addition, there are a whole host of identity-theft proposals that I think warrant further examination and vigorous debate, and Im just going to go through a very quick list. One, people have talked about - I think it needs to be examined - an Office of ID Theft Czar at the FTC, or elsewhere. You need more money in the Department of Justice and Secret Service to investigate and pros-ecute perpetrators of mass ID fraud. I think you...
